Dear Students & Parents,

Students - Reward Your$elf!

If you have been working really hard at school, have set some lofty goals for yourself, volunteer in the community, then you should investigate how you might qualify for the ECBEA awards and scholarships.

Last school year, the ECBEA, in partnership with community businesses and organizations distributed 134 awards with a total value of $14,850. Congratulations to all the winners in our 12 program schools, from grades 6 to 12.

We encourage all students to check out the instructions & criteria for scholarships on the ECBEA website www.ecbea.org/scholarships.php. There are a number of different awards and the criteria vary with each. Marks are important but it is not the sole criteria. Please check out the helpful hints section. For the younger applicants, please enlist your parents to help with the form.

Preparing application forms for scholarships is good practice for writing your own resume and completing job applications. Job seeking is closer than you think!

Deadline for application is Friday, April 30, 2011

Parents - if your business, organization or acquaintances have a desire to recognize academic achievement, community involvement and youth advocacy, please have them contact any of the ECBEA Executive or the Scholarship Committee for sponsorship opportunities.

Good luck to everyone!
